Poem

Written by Marty Bryant "Yoke"

SWEET SAN DIEGO

*You're so lovely sweet San Diego
When your summer sunsets rest upon the blue
And when your winters come warm without snow
To call me to your great out 'doors and you*

*First in Balboa last December
Where your quaint-old museums wait beside the zoo
Then, it was cold back home, remember
Made me game for somewhere new*

*So, I stayed in sweet San Diego
Enjoying all I longed to do
Soon the stars that shared the moonlight
Made me give my heart to you*
